For Fever and Ague, Intermitten Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

This is a compound remedy, prepared with scientific skill from vegetable ingredients, which rarely fails to cure the severest cases of Chills and Fever and the concomitant disorders. Such a remedy the necessities of the people in malarious districts demand. Its great superiority over any other medicine yet discovered for the cure of latermittents is, that it contains no quialne or inductal, and those who take it are free from dearest or only invitous effects, and andneral, and those who take it are free from danger of quinism or any injurious effects, and are, as healthy after using it as before. It has been extensively employed during the last thirty years in the treatment of these distressing dis-orders, and so unvarying has been its success that it has gained the reputation of being infallible. It can, be safely recommended as a sure remedy and specific for the Fever and Ague of the West, and the Chills and Fever of the South, which, once broken up by it, do not
